COLLAS CRILL

R.G.I. International Limited

AUGUST 2015

Paul Wilkes and Wayne Atkinson have advised the AIM-listed company R.G.I. International Limited as the company successfully contested a number of resolutions proposed by an activist shareholder.

The high-profile issues raised featured in the national and international press and required Collas Crill to advise on a number of highly technical points of law. These include issues related to directors' duties and obligations, shareholder rights and requisitions and the conduct of contentious EGMs.

The conduct of this matter has further built on our commercial teams already excellent experience and reputation in the field of contested meetings.
