

Collas Crill acts on sale of Chateau des Tielles

JUNE 2026

Collas Crill has advised on the sale of Chateau des Tielles to Patience Healthcare (Guernsey) Limited.

Chateau des Tielles is a small nursing and residential care home located in the parish of Torteval, Guernsey.

The transaction was led by Senior Partner Jason Green and involved negotiating and completing the sale of the shares in the trading company, which also owns the care home's property.

The successful completion of the sale enables the three existing shareholders and directors, who have been involved in the business since the property was first designated as a care home, to retire from the industry.

Peter Adam, former Managing Director of Chateau Des Tielles said 'We are very grateful to the team at Collas Crill for their hard work and dedication in bringing this transaction to a successful conclusion.

The directors are indebted to Jason and his team for their support throughout the process and for providing high-quality advice in a timely manner.

We are now looking forward to a well-earned retirement, although we will greatly miss the residents and their families who have made Chateau des Tielles such a welcoming home and helped create a wonderful environment for our residents to enjoy.'

Jason Green added: 'We were delighted to support the shareholders throughout this transaction and wish them every success in their retirement. We also wish Patience Healthcare well as it takes the business forward and continues to provide high-quality care for residents.'

Collas Crill has extensive experience advising on corporate acquisitions, disposals and property transactions across the Channel Islands, supporting clients through every stage of the process with practical, commercially focused advice.
