

Collas Crill explains... Accounting and auditing requirements for Guernsey companies

OCTOBER 2020

This is the last in our series of guides in which we examine areas of Guernsey law that frequently arise in practice.

In this guide, we outline the key things you need to know about Guernsey companies' accounting and audit requirements.

Words in bold text are defined at the end.

Accounting requirements

A company must keep accounting records which are sufficient to show and explain its transactions and be able to disclose the financial position of the company with reasonable accuracy at any time. The accounting records must also enable the directors to ensure that the accounts have been properly prepared in accordance with the Law.

A company's accounts must show a true and fair value of its profit and loss, include a balance sheet and must be prepared in accordance with GAAP.

Accounts must be approved by the board and signed by at least one director of the company.

A company's accounting records may be kept at the company's registered office, or at any other location as deemed appropriate by the directors. They must be available for inspection at all reasonable times by any officer of the company and kept for a minimum of six years.

If the records are kept outside of Guernsey, returns in respect of the business dealt with in the accounting records must be sent and kept at a place in Guernsey.

Requirement to file accounts

There is no requirement under the Law to file a company's accounts with the Guernsey Registry.

Delivery rights of accounts to members and officers

Within 12 months of the end of the financial year, the company must send its accounts, directors' report (if required) and auditors' report (if required) to every member of the company. If a member or officer makes a request to see the accounts (and the reports, if relevant), the company must provide these within seven days, provided that member or officer has not already made such a request within that financial year.

If a company holds an annual general meeting, the most recent accounts, directors' report (if applicable) and auditor's report (if applicable) must be available at the meeting.

Directors' report

A directors' report must be prepared in respect of the company every year stating the company's principal activities over the course of the financial year. Directors of associated companies may combine directors' reports if they feel that this is appropriate.

A company can file a waiver resolution exempting the directors from this duty, although this is not possible for supervised companies. This exemption can be rescinded if requested by members holding 10% or more of the company's issued share capital.

Auditing requirements

A company must have its accounts audited for each financial year in accordance with the Law, unless the company is exempt or can exempt itself from this requirement.

The auditor's report in respect of a company must state whether in the auditor's opinion the company's accounts give a true and fair view, have been prepared in accordance with GAAP (as a minimum requirement) and comply with any relevant enactment in force. They must be signed and dated by the auditor.

Audit exemption

The members of a company may pass a waiver resolution to exempt the company from the requirement to have its accounts audited.

This exemption can be rescinded if requested by members holding 10% or more of the company's issued share capital.

The resolution must be passed in the financial year before the year to which the resolution relates, or where a company is newly incorporated, before the end of the first financial year. The resolution can waive the requirement for audit for one year, multiple years or indefinitely.

Audit waivers can be submitted on the Guernsey Registry online portal.

The Regulations provide that members of a 'large company' are not eligible to be audit exempt. A company is deemed to be a 'large company' if any two of the qualifying conditions listed below are met in any financial year and the preceding financial year.

Qualifying conditions

The qualifying conditions referred to above are that the company has:

1. an annual net turnover of £6.5 million or greater;
2. a net balance sheet or £3.26 million or greater;
3. an average number of employees of 50 or more.

A 'small company' may be audit-exempt irrespective of whether they meet the qualifying conditions. These are:

1. dormant companies;
2. asset holding companies; or
3. companies with 10 or fewer members.

Auditor's right to information

Auditors have the right to access all of a company's books, accounts and vouchers and can also request from any officer or employee of the company any such information or explanations as they think necessary.

Terms used

accounts means either individual accounts prepared in accordance with section 243 of the Law or consolidated accounts in accordance with section 244 of the Law.

company means a limited liability company limited by shares and incorporated and registered in Guernsey.

financial year means (i) firstly, the period beginning on the date on which a company was incorporated and ending within 18 months of that date; and (ii) thereafter, the period beginning on the day after its previous financial year ended and ending within 18 months of that date.

GAAP means generally accepted accounting principles.
