

Regulation and technology: Content bed-fellows or sworn adversaries?

June 2016

Fintech; the new buzzword in town. While it has become somewhat de rigueur in conversation, it does provide a perfect example of a fast moving and often disruptive technology in action. It begs the question: how can regulators keep pace?