COLLAS CRILL

Changing times, changing needs: The growing demand among Middle Eastern families for succession planning structures in the Channel Islands

SEPTEMBER 2021

An article by Group Partner Angela Calnan has been published in eprivateclient:'Changing times, changing needs: The growing demand among Middle Eastern families for succession planning structures in the Channel Islands'.

The article covers how the global pandemic has affected the structures utilised by Middle Eastern families for their family business and the transmission of wealth to future generations. It also highlights why the Channel Islands are the chosen jurisdictions for this type of client and structuring.

To read more click here (subscription required)

This note is a summary of the subject and is provided for information only. It does not purport to give specific legal advice, and before acting, further advice should always be sought. Whilst every care has been taken in producing this note neither the author nor Collas Crill shall be liable for any errors, misprint or misinterpretation of any of the matters set out in it. All copyright in this material belongs to Collas Crill.

COLLAS CRILL

For more information please contact:

Angela Calnan

Partner (Advocate) | Guernsey

t: +44 (0) 1481 734233 | e: angela.calnan@collascrill.com

This note is a summary of the subject and is provided for information only. It does not purport to give specific legal advice, and before acting, further advice should always be sought. Whilst every care has been taken in producing this note neither the author nor Collas Crill shall be liable for any errors, misprint or misinterpretation of any of the matters set out in it. All copyright in this material belongs to Collas Crill.